

James Frew Ltd - Plumbing Apprenticeship

James Frew Ltd are recruiting for a Plumbing apprentice.

A Plumbing Apprenticeship is a Modern Apprenticeship where apprentices receive training in all aspects of plumbing and heating. Modern Apprenticeships are a combination of work-based and college/training centre training. An apprenticeship gives you the opportunity to earn while you learn, providing the dual benefit of gaining a nationally recognised qualification whilst being paid as you work. Over the course of your four year apprenticeship, you will work to achieve the SVQ level 3 in MES Domestic Plumbing.

The apprenticeship will involve classroom based training at college and on site based training with an experienced plumber who will be your mentor.

Ongoing training and assistance will be provided during the apprenticeship at our Stevenson Training Centre.

The work experience will take place at various locations so a degree of travel will be required.

A company uniform and full PPE will be provided.
